

Biography

Mohammad AL Nabhan received his Bachelor degree in computer science from Mu'tah University, Jordan, in 2004. Additionally, he received his master degree in mobile multimedia applications from Anglia Ruskin University (ARU), UK in 2006. In 2007, he joined the Electronic Systems Research Group (ESRG) at Brunel University, UK where he is currently doing his PhD. AL Nabhan's research interest includes multimedia applications over different networks, Software Engineering and development and finally satellite navigation applications such as GIS, LBS and Blind pedestrian navigation applications.